LAW ENFORCEMENT SAFETY

Law enforcement officers face many different dangerous and stressful situations in the line of duty. Some, such as gun violence, are obvious; others dangers (e.g., fatigue) are hidden, but common, and can greatly hinder officer performance. Officer performance is also affected by training and other factors. While we absolutely should hope, wish and pray for safety, we should not focus solely on the outcome.

- Be alert and aware of your surroundings.
- Constantly train, prepare and improve.
- Maintain mental and physical fitness.
- Effectively utilize cover and concealment.
- Do not place yourself unnecessarily at risk.
